Minutes

Meeting of 19 of June 2025

Assistants: Antonio Ojeda, Marcelo Borsio , Leonide Gragnoli , Jorge García Rapp, Maria Ascension Morales, Angel Edoardo Ruiz Buenrostro, Aryana Satrya and J. Eduardo López Ahumada.

Agenda

1. President's Report.

Completion of the constituent and structuring phase of the Association:

- Twenty-two national associations and observers. Imbalances have been observed that will be worked on in the future for improvement the institutional organization.

- Registration with the United Nations, Washington; and with the national registry: The association is registered with the United Nations in Washington, but not with the International Labor Organization. Formal registration with the International Labor Organization could also be attempted.

- Connection with International Organizations: International Society of Labor Law and Social Security S IDTSS, International Social Security Association, Ibero-American Social Security Organization.

- Webpage , Instagram: Discussion Papers , Talks, Meetings. It has an updated website where discussion papers, talks, and rallies are updated. Likewise, stand out the development of communication through the Instagram social network, thanks to the work of Marcelo Bossio.

- First International Congress (see below)

- First book, on “Social Security for Border Workers”

- Initial financial option: assistance from sponsors.

Summary opinion: generous individualism and regional deficiencies.

2. Evaluation of the 1st International Congress held on June 2 and 3.

At the first Congress of our association, developed at the University of Seville, the participation of the International Society of Right of the Work and of the Social security, through Jean Michel Servais, as well as the Ibero-American Social Security Organization, through its general secretary, Gina Magnolia Riaño Barón, and the International Social Security Association (ILO) with the intervention of its Secretary General , Mr. Marcelo Caetano.

Problems related to the development of presentations in the workshop were also discussed. Teams , which made it difficult to track.

Professor María Ascensión Morales (UNAM, Mexico) has proposed that Congressional interventions be longer.

Jorge García Ramos comments on the difficulty of following the Congress due to scheduling issues, and also points out that it is actually difficult to coordinate the schedules in Asia and America.

The results of the Congress will be published in a digital book by the Spanish publisher Laborum .

3. Celebration of the next International Congress (who, where, when, what...), and its characteristics to differentiate it from national congresses, as well as specific proposals.

Our president reports on the proposal of a course that could be organized In Colombia, proposed by Martha Monsalve; however, due to her absence, the debate on the matter was postponed to another meeting .

In any case, various options were raised, and the meeting focused largely on the interesting existing proposals:

The first proposal was made by Jorge García Rapp, who together with Álvaro Rodríguez Azcúe and the members of the Ibero-American Social Security Research Network (RIISS) are offering the possibility of organizing a Congress, decisively opting for an in-person format, a Congress with a continental Ibero-American focus.

For his part, Marcelo Borsio He points to the possibility of holding a congress in the United States. The president comments that the problem is organizational, because the American association is in its infancy and organizing it there is difficult given the circumstances. However, he will offer contacts with Professor Mendoza Choque of Warton University in Pennsylvania, organizer of the North American section.

The Italian delegation led by Prof. Gragnoli It also proposes the possibility of holding a conference in Parma in 2026 on aspects of international social security.

Finally, María Ascensión Morales comments on the possibility of holding a conference at the National Autonomous University of Mexico, which already organizes one every year. periodically. This initiative would be in connection with the National Social Security Association of Mexico, activating its activities with them. This forum could be used to organize a Congress of the Association International of Protection Social.

Likewise, Marcelo Borsio indicates that a Social Security Congress in Brazil and there will be a specific panel on the importance of digital work in Social Security. We are formally invited to participate, taking into account that it will take place on October 1st at 11:00 AM Brazilian time.

4. Evaluation of the past year and planning for the next year.

Participation is highlighted of our Association with a specific table on Social Security at the Rome Congress of the International Association of Right of the Labor and Social Security.

There is a broad range of national associations. The goal is to form a larger group, expanding beyond the Ibero-American sphere and expanding into other regions such as Africa, Asia, Europe, and North America. Efforts are being made to attract new members, especially in Eastern Europe and Asia, through Faiz Ayat .

Approaches for the coming year:

It is important to make an effort to advance representation collectively and transversally, encompassing spaces beyond Latin America, which is well established.

Need for groups to address the transnationality . Beginnings:

From India (Faiz Ayat , ed.), Discussion paper on motherhood in India, Brazil, and Japan. This study is published on our association's website, IASP-AIPS.org.

From Colombia and Argentina are proposed congresses, although other extremely interesting proposals have been put forward at this meeting.

With the Ibero-American Organization for Social Security will participate in Study on “Challenges of the Social security in Latin America”, (Prof. Hugo Cifuentes, dir.).

Proposed topic for this year's Congress: Social Security in Regional and Interregional Agreements. The idea would be to work on macro-agreements and their effects on social security in the coming year. International Social Security. The objective is to analyze the relevance of social security clauses in agreements international free trade, whether Mercosur, ASEAN, Pacific Alliance, Asia-Pacific Cooperation (APEC), Asia-Pacific Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP), EU-Canada Free Trade, EU-CELAC Summit, etc.

Another specific point to be discussed for the upcoming academic year concerns funding. Funding has been available through sponsors, and it is understood that this would be the ideal option for next year. The possibility of having membership fees paid by national associations is an option, but the problem lies in the management and processing of payments from national associations, which is very difficult.

5. Requests and questions.

Marcelo Borsio He asks what the date is for the delivery of the articles in the book on the last Congress and the president tells him it is July 31. This information It was published in the association's WhatsApp group.

Jorge García Rapp asks about the possibility of continuing to use the translator application in the cell phones in connection with computer videoconferencing. This is a vital issue for the promotion of IASP-AIPS in multiple languages, and a solution is urgently needed, the simplest one at this time being the Microsoft Translate application .

In view of the various interventions and the topics discussed, the session is formally adjourned.

Virtual meeting held by the platform Zoom of the IASP-AIPS, on 19 of June of 2025, at 4:00 p.m. hours (Spanish time).

José Eduardo López Ahumada

José Eduardo López Ahumada
2025.06.21 20:31:48 +02'00'

Signed J. Eduardo López Ahumada.

Secretary General of AIPS